Keeping Safe

Personal Space, Boundaries and Consent

We teach your children to advocate for themselves and respect the rights of others by explicitly exploring the ideas of personal space, healthy boundaries and consent.

Some things are not a choice

- Following rules around being safe with what you say and do
- Going to school and doing your work
- Brushing your teeth and going to sleep at bedtime
- Going to the doctor or the dentist when you need to

Lots of things are a choice

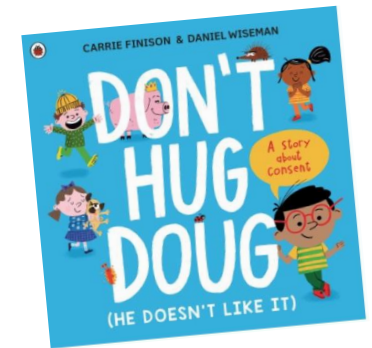

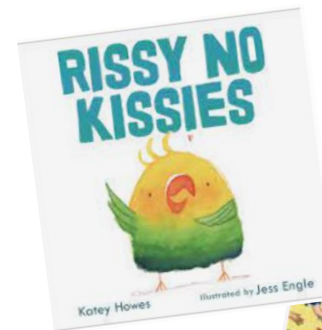

- The words you say and the things you do
- Who you play with and the activity you choose to do
- Being touched and touching others

We don't keep secrets

- It is important not to keep secrets about the presents someone gives you, friendships, favours, or any kind of touch.

Keep telling until you get the help you need

- If one person doesn't listen, then tell someone else.

Keeping Safe

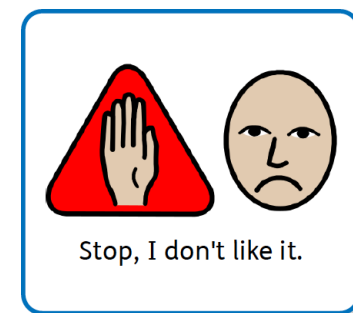

Personal Space, Boundaries and Consent

We give your children the words and visual symbols to communicate when they don't like what is happening, and to stop when someone asks them to.

Children naturally engage in age-appropriate behaviours and curiosities at home that are not appropriate in public, including at school.

We help them to understand the difference by having rules and guidance around:

- privacy in the toilets, including keeping their body private
- inappropriate touch – including their private parts, bottoms, kissing or hugging with friends.
- using respectful language towards each other

There may be times when we speak to you about something that has happened in school. Our vigilance around this is due to our commitment to keeping your child safe from harm and helping them to understand what is appropriate and safe, and what isn't.

Early Years Foundation Stage Curriculum

The children follow the Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum and are taught and assessed against different areas of learning.
